INDIAN IS BEING MADE MODERN

The primitive red men had no trouble about the necessities of life in tribal times. The Jamestown settlers and the Pilgrims were on Powhatans and Massasotis' doles and Indian maize and other food saved the whites from starvation. Later the whites appropriated the Indians' best farms, oil and timber lands.

The government has now instituted what is officially called "re-education and rehabilitation," backed up by nearly a million and a half dollars that have been allotted to the Commissioner of Indian Affairs for fixing up human problems at 68 Indian agencies. The Commissioner proudly proclaims that the Indian office has let contracts to architects "to bring the best architectural thought" to the construction of modest and modern Indian houses to meet "the particular requirements of his background and tradition."

The official bulletin states that "small irrigation projects and subsistence gardens are being established" and that canning kitchens, and root cellars are being arranged for. Handcraft shops, sewing shops, flour and grist mills, sawmills, and odd things like that are being added to make the Indian work safe for democracy. Ours is a glorious era, as witness the fact that Big Chief Indian smokes cigarettes, rides with his chauffeur, and is familiar with modern plumbing, electricity, radios and all the gadgets. New garages have replaced the "traditional" tepee, and Oklahoma and Texas have shown us Indians who had two chickens in the pot and a million dollars in the bank.

Secrecy will apply to all Russian warships operating in the Pacific and craft to be built for the Soviet Far Eastern fleet.

DEATH OF PHYSICIAN UNDER PROBE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—UP.—A coroner's verdict in the death of a San Francisco woman and sensational disclosures surrounding the sudden death of an Oakland physician introduced the possibility of murder charges in investigation of a purported criminal operation ring tonight.

DOCTOR'S DEATH
At the same time police revealed that records seized in Los Angeles showed that Dr. J. E. Polson, former Oakland physician, died within five months after selling his business under a contract which cut the original purchase price in half if he died within two years.

Knox Nominated For Vice Presidency As G. O. P. Plans Drive

CLEVELAND, June 12.—UP.—Republicans organized tonight for their November assault on the New Deal after unanimously choosing Frank Knox as their vice presidential candidate at a time when he was in an automobile bound for Chicago, thinking his cause was lost.

The Republican national committee which its members hope will install Governor Alf M. Landon in the big white house on Pennsylvania avenue, Knox was nominated on the first ballot after all his rivals withdrew and tossed their votes to him.

HAMILTON CHOSEN
The national committee decided to stick with a winner and chose red-haired John D. M. Hamilton the man who held Landon to the nomination, as national chairman. This 42-year-old Kansas lawyer will be chief strategist of the Republicans for the campaign and the election.

Knox left here after breakfast believing—as did almost everybody else in Cleveland—that Senator A. H. Vandenberg of Michigan was going to be the vice presidential nominee. The flags were coming down in the Knox headquarters and the less water pitchers overflowed because there was no one there to empty them. Knox was reconciled to Vandenberg's being the winner even enthusiastic about it, because they are old and close friends.

SPEEDY ACTION
Landon said he thought the party couldn't go into action too soon. Plans for the notification ceremony probably would be worked out at the conference.

The governor still was tired and hoarse from yesterday's hard day of telephoning and campaign duties. He said his first public comment on the Republican platform would be "I think it is a very strong, straight forward, sound platform."

The governor said that he was delighted with the convention's choice for his running mate, but "had no idea who the vice presidential nominee would be until I heard it."

Landon prepared to resume his daily horseback ride again after being forced to miss it yesterday.

NEW DEVELOPMENTS

COSTS REVEALED

BOY TO FACE CHARGES IN ATTACK CASE

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—UP—Police tonight waited for further hospital reports before filing formal charges against Lawrence Block, 15, who confessed to beating his mother, Mrs. Edith Ellentuck, 47, about the head with a hammer.

Block, confessed, police said, that he attacked his mother with the hammer after she struck him when he refused to wash dishes until she removed some laundry from the sink.

He said he helped support the family by selling papers, went home and had to cook his own dinner, and then objected because his mother made him wash dishes. He attributed the attack, however, to a violent temper which "I inherited from my mother."

BORAH KEEPS MUM ON STAND IN ELECTION

WASHINGTON, June 12.—UP—Senator William E. Borah, Republican, Idaho, left open the door to "take a walk" from the Republican presidential campaign today by declining to commit himself until he finds out what candidate Landon's interpretation of the party platform means.

In two meetings with reporters, Borah refused to say whether he would actively support the candidacy of Governor Alf M. Landon, oppose him or sit on the sidelines. This cast the "lion of Idaho" once more in the role he appears to love—a big question mark on the political scene. His silver-tongued oratory undoubtedly could either advance or retard Republican chances in the presidential campaign, depending upon how he uses it.

Borah left the G. O. P. national convention at Cleveland last night, apparently satisfied with the party platform and reconciled to the crushing of his own candidacy for the presidential nomination by the Landon bandwagon.

But when the veteran Progressive Senator arrived in the capital he expressed dismay at the last-minute telegram Landon sent the convention announcing his own interpretation of some parts of the platform.

Borah was so disturbed by the apparent conflict of Landon's views with his own that he refused to say what his position would be until he thought it over. A day of consideration left him less disturbed but more puzzled as to his future part in the coming campaign. He said he would make no definite statement until he returns to Idaho after adjournment of Congress.

Pan-American officials themselves are satisfied that the time is ripe to inaugurate the service.

STONE DIES AT STATE PRISON FOR SLAYING

FOLSOM PRISON, June 12.—UP—Elton Stone, paid with his life today for the unexplained murder of Mary Louise Stammer, Fresno school girl.

The black-haired garage mechanic climbed the 13 steps leading to the room at 10 A. M., with no show of emotion nor an offer to reveal why he shot and killed the 14-year-old daughter of a wealthy Fresno attorney.

Stone's stubborn refusal to tell the background of the crime which led Fresno county authorities and state criminologists on a long and nearly unsuccessful search for the slayer—persisted until the end despite last-minute questioning and his promise to "tell all" before the hanging.

GOLDEN ARROW FEATURED ON SUNDAY'S BILL

Bette Davis, with George Brent playing opposite her, comes to the Fox theater tomorrow in "The Golden Arrow" which will play on a double program with "The Dancing Pirate."

Miss Davis appears in a role quite different from those which won her the award of the Academy of Arts and Sciences as the best film actress of 1935. In "The Golden Arrow" she gives a light comedy portrayal with a romantic twist, which involves a double marriage.

Brent's role is also largely comedy, he being a young reporter, whose chief interest is a book he is writing but who finds time to fall in love with Bette after a series of misunderstandings and flirtations, which nearly break the course of true love.

In the cast besides Miss Davis and Brent are included Eugene Packer, Dick Foran, Carol Hughes, Catherine Doucet, Ivan Lebedoff and Henry O'Neill.

"Dancing Pirate," the first feature length comedy drama ever produced in the new Technicolor process, is one of the features. Aside from its story, dances and action, the picture is one of the wonders of the new era. Its color definition is highly rated.

Swift dancing numbers with the participants gorgeously costumed sweep to and fro on the screen with the color effects solidly maintained throughout. The color is completely synchronized and the harmony adds to and enhances the brilliant entertainment of the picture.

Frank Morgan, Steffi Duna, Charles Collins, Victor Varconi and other featured players are in the cast. Shirley Temple in "Captain January" and Jimmy Allen in "The Sky Parade" will play for the last time today at the Fox.

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY GO ROUND

CLEVELAND, June 12.—The efficiency and far-sightedness of Governor Alf Landon's newsman board of strategy was wondrous to behold. Apparently they overlooked nothing in the way of preparedness.

In the midst of the turmoil of lining up delegates, running the fires of publicity, waging war in the platform committee and keeping a close rein on the entire convention here, they also found time for quiet counseling with the "boys from back home" regarding the kind of election campaign they think the Kansas governor should make.

The problem weighs heavily on the minds of the Landon managers. Although charming and attractive personally and in direct conversation, Landon is not a maverick or effective platform figure or radio speaker. During the nomination contest his handlers were able to keep him in the background, "under blankets" so to speak. But in election race means that the candidate has to show himself.

Landon will have to step forth and stand on his own feet, and his campaign war of minds are pondering how to make him appear to best advantage.

Most of the party old-timers so far consulted have advised a modified "front porch" campaign. They oppose an extended tour such as Roosevelt made in 1932.

Instead, they suggest a half-dozen or so carefully staged rallies in strategic centers, such as New York, Boston, or Chicago. Landon would spend the rest of the time at his home in Kansas, meeting delegations, holding daily press conferences, and making an occasional address from his front porch.

Such a plan appeals a rondo to the Landon managers. It would also fit in with the desire of the Governor to spend several weeks at "Hautanqua, N. Y., where he has vacationed in the past. From this central point he could meet Eastern state leaders and deliver a speech or two.

WET AND DRY
A newsman in quest of a statement from Senator Lester J. Dickinson, Iowa's very dark "dark horse," went to Dickinson headquarters. As he entered a stranger took him aside.

"Here is something hot for you," said the gentleman, and read a paragraph from the Landon campaign biography, "Deeds Not Deficits," stating that when Landon was a college student he belonged to a fraternity that gave occasional beer parties.

"Well, what about it?" asked the reporter.

"That shows you the kind of a man he is. He is a drinker."

The reporter went about his business. A half hour later, as he was leaving the headquarters, another

NEW YORK, June 12.—The March of Reform: Five years ago the Seabury investigation supposedly destroyed New York's vice ring. A few weeks ago the Dewey investigation revealed the existence of another huge vice combine. Only a few days ago a vice cop was found with an unexplained $400 in his pockets, and now the police department plans to start out on another brand-new investigation—And police have just opened a new "drive" on the slot machines. They were supposed to have been driven out two years ago—George Jean Nathan keeps insisting that stage stars are not really lured to Hollywood because of money or fame. What gets them there is simply that the movies enable an actor to become a himself—Landon is enjoying the delights of America's prohibition era. An English friend writes that night clubs stay open after 11 P. M. (The London curfew hour) and sell liquor in the good old speakeasy fashion, with fear of raids by the cops as an added thrill. The new French Casino there, incidentally, is the furthest London has ever gone in the matter of undraped females—The newly decorated Hotel Astor Roof Garden is becoming one of the popular skyline spots. Rudy Vallee is there with his orchestra, and it's all cool, breezy and gay.

NEW YORK, June 12.—The March of Reform: Five years ago the Seabury investigation supposedly destroyed New York's vice ring. A few weeks ago the Dewey investigation revealed the existence of another huge vice combine. Only a few days ago a vice cop was found with an unexplained $400 in his pockets, and now the police department plans to start out on another brand-new investigation—And police have just opened a new "drive" on the slot machines. They were supposed to have been driven out two years ago—George Jean Nathan keeps insisting that stage stars are not really lured to Hollywood because of money or fame. What gets them there is simply that the movies enable an actor to become a himself—Landon is enjoying the delights of America's prohibition era. An English friend writes that night clubs stay open after 11 P. M. (The London curfew hour) and sell liquor in the good old speakeasy fashion, with fear of raids by the cops as an added thrill. The new French Casino there, incidentally, is the furthest London has ever gone in the matter of undraped females—The newly decorated Hotel Astor Roof Garden is becoming one of the popular skyline spots. Rudy Vallee is there with his orchestra, and it's all cool, breezy and gay.

But Marjorie couldn't come here from Hollywood for the return engagement, which gave Eva a chance to play the part for the two-week revival. Success, critical praise, a deluge of movie offers: For Eva, the curtain is just rising.

STOOGES—Phil Dwyer, the warbler, was awakened the other morning by the sound of loud singing. He wasn't the only one. It was only a A. M., and late neighbors started calling the Dwyer household to tell him that it might be a good idea to save his voice for the stage.

Dwyer rubbed his eyes for a minute and finally awoke to the situation. The loud singing was indeed coming from his apartment—but it was his son who was contributing all the uproar.

Young Dwyer was practicing, he explained to his angry sire, so that he could pinch hit for his baritone father in case of emergency.

Caroline Jay and Garret Cassidy love each other, but because Garret is a shiftless poolroom loafer, Caroline's mother has forbidden her to see him. Mrs. Jay, superintendent of the Avon Home for the Aged, wants Caroline to encourage Henry Avon, whose wealthy mother is head of the Home's board of directors. One afternoon Caroline meets Garret secretly and they get married. On their way back to town they strike and kill an old man. Phil Whistler, who has just run away from the Home, frightened, they go off and leave him lying by the roadside. Meanwhile, Sarah Evans, young and pretty nurse at the Home, who has been secretly married to Dr. Phil Williams, visiting physician, for five years brings her four-year-old son to the Home, hoping that Phil will come to see her. Phil has tired of her recently and she hopes to patch things up. She leaves little David on the porch with old Mr. Martin who was once a suitor of old Mrs. Pfenniger—now at the Home dying.

WHEN it began to grow dark, Sarah Evans joined her little boy on the porch. Dave was still rocking contentedly beside Mr. Martin.

Upstairs, Hettie Pfenniger continued to hold her own. Mr. Martin said "How—how is she?"

Miss Evans answered, "About the same."

"You—you think she—she might pull—"

Miss Evans interrupted. "She might. Stranger things have happened."

His twisted face turned from her as if he could not bear to let anyone see the hope that flooded it.

But Sarah Evans eyes were on the driveway where she had been watching a what seemed like an eternity for Phil to come.

She could not believe that he wouldn't come—not when she had asked him so earnestly.

David spoke to her "Aunt Sarah," he said when Mr. Martin was a little boy all these trees and houses and outbuildings weren't here. There were fields and real cows and horses. He's been telling me."

The nurse pulled up a chair and sat down. "You've been a grand boy," she said. "I'm going to bring you back next often to see Mr. Martin and some of the other old people."

Marx Brothers Sunday Feature At The Richmond

They built better than they knew in creating a modern ocean liner for the Marx Brothers to play with at Metro Goldwyn Mayer.

Groucho became violently seasick—Chico sprained his wrist playing shuffleboard—Harpo fell overboard. But it was all in fun, as the Merry Madcaps embarked on "A Night at the Opera," opening at the Richmond theater Sunday in conjunction with Buck Jones in "Ore Man Law."

All that is, but Groucho's "mal de mer," which was genuine. Director Sam Wood had the liner pitching realistically until he discovered that Groucho is a poor sailor, so the ship was made to sail on calmer seas.

After two weeks, the Mad Marxes had their sea legs—only to be landed at an Italian opera house to put the high C into grand opera.

The new picture is the most elaborate and lavish, both from the standpoint of story and sets, ever attempted by the Marx Brothers.

The script called for a complete opera house, from box seats to dressing rooms; an ocean liner in detail, from stem to stern; a reception such as only New York can tender heroes, and a section of Central Park.

On the Richmond screen today only Jean Arthur and George Murphy are featured in "Public Menace." Also on the same program is Zane Grey's "Nevada" starring Larry Crabbe and Kathleen Burke.

"I'm awfully worried about Pop Whistler," Mrs. Jay had told her. "Do you think it would be wise to call the Missing Persons Bureau?"

Miss Evans had suggested that they wait. "He and no money. He'll be back before it grows real dark. Have you checked in his room again?"

You cannot expect to make friends socially or in business if you have halitosis (bad breath). Since you cannot detect it yourself, the one way of making sure you do not offend is to gargle often with Listerine. It instantly destroys odors, improves mouth hygiene and checks infection. ### State Police To Aid In Search For Poet Slayer

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—UP—Peace officers throughout the State were called upon today to assist in the search for the "mad poet" of the dog race tracks, Michael Milligan, 40, wanted for the murder of Mrs. Mary Camella Smith, owner of a pet shop and dog boarding kennel.

Milligan was seen twice since the murder but each time he managed to escape from police. He apparently eluded scores of heavily-armed deputies who believed they had him trapped in a jungle-like swamp area near here.

It was said Milligan made open threats against his victim, blaming her for his domestic difficulties with his second wife. His first wife died a natural death.

PACKAGES PROTECT HEALTH

We would hardly like to bring foods home like Grandmother did before the era of the paper bag. The storekeeper then kept his goods in barrels and scooped out the foods which he wrapped in heavy paper or newspaper. When the paper bag was first invented, it was the talk of the town. But now we have paper packages which are far superior to the paper bag and think nothing of them.

Although we treat the package so lightly, it is really one of the most important means of protecting food cleanliness developed by our present civilization. The attractive package protects the food supply in every home. It is important to keep the food clean, but it is also just as important to keep the food clean after it comes into the house. This is the double duty of the package. It keeps food clean until it comes to your hands and also protects it until completely used. A tight, handy package which keeps dirt out of your food supply insures that you will eat healthful food.

Many of us do not realize how highly developed our most ordinary packages are. Food manufacturers spare no expense if they find a new package which will bring the product to you in a fresh, crisper state. One of the late developments is to use a food container which may be used for something else when the original contents are used. If you will look in your own cupboard, you will be amazed at the handy containers you will find. Many salt packages have a special pouring spout. The soda package opens with the thumb nail. You may see a special container designed to take home ice cream, orange juice, etc., without spilling. The glass jar is one of the newest "packages" and may be used for something else later.

A modern material, cellophane, is so transparent that you may see all of the contents and thus know exactly what you are buying. Yet the food is protected from dirt and disease germs which might be left on the outside from handling. Some of the cardboard packages have little transparent windows which you can see through and know what is inside.

In addition to putting the food in a package many manufacturers add layers of wax paper and you will find the crispness of breakfast foods, crackers, etc., protected in this way. Bread may be had wrapped in waxed paper and also sliced for further convenience. One baker wraps the sliced loaf in two separate packages so you can use one half the loaf while the rest is wrapped up. In many cities even the morning paper comes in a waxed paper on rainy days to keep it dry!

So many modern products come in packages as raisins, dates, apricots, flour, gum, gelatin, desserts, soap chips, cigarettes, etc., that it is hard to see how we could get along without the package. Some packages open easily when you pull a thread or string. Packaged goods have the added advantage over bulk goods in that a given brand is always uniform as manufacturers have found that they build up a better following by maintaining the same standard in all packages.

Find out the best way to use a package. It is always a good plan to read the directions for opening. Very often you will find printed directions for new recipes which are helpful. Also look up which packages are the best for your particular needs. Some like the individual sized cereal packages, for instance. In handling waxed packages, press the paper back around the food when you have taken out one serving. Put packages on the shelf so you can see what is in them. You will find it easier to tell what is inside if you can see the label plainly.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

(Wants Face to Be Plumper)
Question: Mrs. C. G. writes: "When the face is thin, is there any way to make the cheeks round and plump without adding fat to the hips and abdomen?"

Answer: When the face is inclined to be thin, I do not know of any dependable method for applying some preparation from the outside which will build up the tissues underneath. The pores of the skin do not have the ability to convert food into healthy tissue. The growth of fat under the skin which causes the cheeks to appear plump is the work of metabolism, and the material for such fatty deposits must come from the blood itself. If food is to properly nourish the skin, it must first be digested and assimilated in the alimentary canal and then be brought to the skin tissues by the blood. However, the patient with a thin face will usually be found to have a sluggish circulation, especially in the muscles and skin of the face. Massage or patting treatments will help to tone up the circulation and thus stimulate increased tissue growth. Any measure which improves the facial circulation will help, including exercises. Systemic exercising of the facial muscles will often be of benefit through making the face firmer. If you wish to try to make the face appear plumper, use massage with or without cold cream, and follow this by gently slapping the face all over; then finish with an ice rub. Do this by holding a smooth piece of ice in a towel and move it slowly over the entire face. This method will often accomplish good results when the face is too thin. However, in massaging, remember to always stroke upward, thus "lifting" the face with the fingers.

Hollywood Film Shop

HOLLYWOOD, June 12.—UP—Patrick Knowles, English actor, is slightly bewildered. He was hurriedly tested in London to play a brother to Errol Flynn in "The Charge of the Light Brigade" and showed immediately on a ship. Arriving in this country, a representative met him and put him on the first train for Hollywood. An hour after detaining here a dentist was preparing his teeth for the camera while a tailor measured him for costumes. Then he was sped 60 miles an hour to location at Lone Pine where Assistant Director Jack Sullivan greeted him with: "You can go to bed now. We won't need you for a couple of days."

A gag they don't object to: Joe E. Brown and John Blondell were posed for a publicity picture by a still-cameraman. Bert Longworth. Give us a good affectionate kiss, said Longworth. "And hold it. I want to get depth for this picture." They held it for well over a minute, then, becoming suspicious, unclimbed. The photographer had disappeared and in his place stood a dozen grinning studio workers.

Rudolph Valentino's white Arabian stallion, Jagan, crosses the desert sands again for the cameras. The steed on which the late lover rode to fame will be seen in "The Garden of Allah" with Marlene Dietrich and Charles Boyer riding him double.

Vinegar-faced Ned Sparks is back in Hollywood complaining about London's chilly fog. "The hotel rooms were so cold I had to wear a turtle-necked sweater over my pajamas," he said.

The younger Wright followed the advice to the bitter end. For example, while working for the Post, he spent three weeks on the Gulf Stream to get a picture of a walrus leaping in the air—and he got it!

At another time he spent two weeks of failure before he succeeded in photographing three loaded airplanes flying over a railroad express in salute formation. But again he had created an idea that editors and readers were glad to have.

Either because of stomach disturbances, food fermentation, or the wearing of false teeth, old people frequently have halitosis (bad breath). No wonder others consider them a nuisance. an illegal operation and with actual performance of the operation.

CONTRACT DRAWN UP

The records showed Folsom agreed to dispose of his practice to a Los Angeles man for $50,000, with a $1000 down payment and installment of $1000 each on the first and 15th of every month until $50,000 was paid. In event of his death, however, within two years, the amount due would be based on one-half of the original amount or $25,000, police said.

The contract was dated March 15, 1935. It was learned Folsom had died July 31, 1935.

TELEGRAM FOUND

Police said that in the office of J. O. Shinn, Los Angeles, also indicted last night, the following telegram, dated August 1, was found: "J. E. Folsom died last night at five o'clock. R. L. Information. Signed, Riggs."

There was no intimation as to the meaning of the letters "R. L." in the telegram.

John J. McMahon, assistant district attorney, said the death and the telegram were "sufficient grounds" to cause an investigation into the causes of the death of Folsom.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 12.—UP.—Captain R. R. Fraich, en route to San Francisco from Port Townsend, Wash., in a 34-foot cutter was approximately two days overdue at the San Francisco yacht club tonight.

Although some concern was expressed for his safety, officials pointed out that the tiny yacht, scheduled to start in the Los Angeles to Honolulu race July 4, may have been becalmed off the coast of Northern California.

shouted: "Michigan will cast its 38 votes for Arthur H. Vandenberg."

The Michigan standard started for the aisle but never got there. The demonstration was brief, most of the delegates believing the Vandenberg handwagon was rolling, and that it wouldn't be long now.

NOTE IS READ

Chairman Bertrand H. Snell tossed water on whatever fire and flame there was among the delegates by stepping to the rostrum and saying: "I have a note from Senator Vandenberg which I wish to read at this time."

ASKS TO BE WITHDRAWN

"My Dear Mr. Snell: 'I am deeply convinced I could serve more effectively in a far more needed capacity on the floor of the Senate during the next London administration. Meanwhile, I can and will serve just as loyally and vigorously and efficiently in the campaign itself. With great appreciation for the honor suggested, I request that my name be withdrawn.'

There was silence, then a rattle of applause and then a buzz of conversation. Soon the roll call of nominating speeches was over and one by one the candidates came to the platform. Edge was first and while he was explaining that he was going to withdraw and throw his votes to Knox, the New York delegation returned from a hurried caucus and plumped its big bundle of 90 votes in the Knox basket.

KNOX IS NOMINATED

Nice followed Edge in withdrawing, explaining that he did so in the interest of party harmony. Little's name also was withdrawn and his votes went to Knox. It was all over, except to see whether Michigan would stand by Vandenberg in face of the Knox landslide.

"Michigan," shouted the reading clerk half way down the aisle, and back through the microphone came a voice from the state's delegation saying:

"In view of Senator Vandenberg's letter, Michigan casts 38 votes for Frank Knox."

EVIDENCE IS UNCOVERED BY PROBERS

11, the same day he "represented" the Oakland Lakeside Club at a promised fee of $1500, as previous testimony disclosed.

WAS NOT PRESENT

Richard Collins, State board chairman, testified Hickman was not present when the board, without discussion, restored licenses of three places, he represented.

Files of the Oakland office showing sales tax arrears were introduced in evidence by John B. Evans, assistant administrator and supervising auditor for the State board district.

RECEIVED CASH

Evans testified that orders to accept $100 from the Lakeside club instead of the $200 which owners had agreed to pay on the sales tax owed came from Harry Mosher, his chief.

The orders to accept that amount came from the State board in Sacramento, Hoyt declared he learned.

TOOK THE MONEY

Previous testimony before the jury was that Hickman, seeking a legal fee, took the $200 from the Lakeside owners, declaring that he would arrange to pay $100 on the overdue taxes and keep $100 himself.

Hoyt declared he will call Mosher to learn from whom the Oakland office received instruction to compromise the overdue sales tax claim.

WHITAKER CALLED

Clem Whitaker, former board railways editor for State liquor chiefs testified that R. J. McGill and E. M. Bergsten, Oakland agents, confessed to him accepting a bribe from Jack Ball in Niles to fix a liquor law violation charge.

He told them to confess to the board, and when they demurred, sent them to Elwood Squires, assistant board secretary, who ordered them to return the money, he testified.

After the resignations of Bergsten and Connolly, Whitaker said, Fred E. Stewart, Oakland member of the board, told him Connolly had assumed full responsibility for everything happening in the Oakland office.

Bergsten, Stewart told him, Whitaker testified, was guilty of no wrongdoing. This was in explanation of Bergsten's reinstatement as an enforcement agent.

and suffered scalp wounds. Jones, Toomey and Mrs. Hobby escaped with nothing more serious than bruises, hospital attendants said.

The plane was flying at an altitude between 6000 and 7000 feet when it suddenly caught fire, according to Hefley.

Hefley immediately put the plane into a power dive, in an effort to put out the flames. He did not succeed in stopping the fire, but was able to get the plane on the ground in time for the pilots and passengers to get out of the ship before it was destroyed.

Hefley said it was probable that the fire was caused by a leaky gasoline line. The plane was owned by the United Gas company.
